

DADS AROUND THE WORLD

What if dads around the world would share with other dads their greatest heartbreaking dad-story or greatest experience made with their son or daughter? I think it would be really great because your ideas, your courage and your impulses will have an impact on other dads. They will see how they can be as a father, man, companion or mentor to the greatest gift we've got – our children!

My idea is to collect all the great stories from dads around the world and write a book that gives them the courage to be the dads they like and should be.

If you would like to share your story, your insights, your greatest experience or your findings (conclusions/revelations?), please fill out the following lines and I will get back to you:

First Name

Last name:

E-mail:

Short description of your story

Your greatest revelation in one sentence

Special question or request:

Please return to: Andreas Seltmann | Freiburg/Germany | info@special4dads.com

I reassure you that I will use your personal data only for the purpose of getting in contact with you. I will neither use it for business nor transfer it to other people or institutions!